

If sex is your work....

STI check-ups

As a sex-worker you have many sexual contacts and you are exposed to a greater risk of getting a sexually transmitted infection (STI). Also condoms can tear or slip off. It is therefore important that you check regularly for STIs, and that you get vaccinated against Hepatitis B for free.

At the GGD Noord- and Oost-Gelderland you can get free and anonymous STI-testing as well as vaccinations. You have to make an appointment by telephone.

When is STI testing important?

- If you have safe sex and there are no special risks (for example a broken condom) then do an STI test every three months for HIV, syphilis, chlamydia and gonorrhea. These tests can be done at the GGD anonymous and free of charge.
- If a condom tore, or slipped off, we advise you to do an extra STI test two weeks after it happened.
- Do you have any sex-related complaints or symptoms that look like an STI? Please make an appointment as soon as possible.
